Personal information collected by GMHBA Limited is handled in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the Australian Privacy Principles 2014.

3. Purposes for which we collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information

The information collected on EOI applications will only be used to assess your application for employment with us, to engage prospective employees and contractors for positions with GMHBA Limited and to manage successful applications.

As far as possible, we collect your personal information directly from you, unless doing so would be unreasonable or impracticable, such as where we engage an external recruiter in seeking to fill a position.

We may share your personal information with our employees only if they are involved in the recruitment and selection processes.

We may also share your information with external affiliates where they directly related to the purpose of assessing your application with us (e.g. selection test providers, background check providers).

All prospective employees are required to undergo background checks to help assess your suitability to the role for which you have applied.

This may include but not limited to, a criminal history check. We may also contact references, professional or educational institutions whose details are provided by you, as part of our standard recruitment process.

If we do not collect all of the personal information that we require from you, we may be unable to process your application for employment.

In subscribing to receive email job alerts from us or submitting an EOI Application directly to us or via approved external affiliate (e.g. job board, external recruiter) your information is submitted and held directly by our recruitment system provider. Their privacy policy can be found here.

You may opt out to an email job alert at any time by clicking the unsubscribe link within the email. Any enquiry relating to records of a submitted EOI Application should be directed to People & Culture via recruitment@gmhba.com.au

Any email from us regarding the status of an EOI Application or an employment opportunity will always come from an address ending in GMHBA.com.au, health.com.au, ScoutTalent.com.au (our recruitment system provider) or an approved external affiliate where directly related to the recruitment process.

We will not sell or disclose your personal details for any purpose that is not related to your relationship with us.

We will not use or sell your personal information provided as a part of EOI application for marketing purposes.

4. Accessing and correcting your personal information

In submitting an EOI application you agree to the terms of this privacy statement and consent to your details be held for the purposes of recruitment. You also agree that your personal information you provide is true, accurate and complete and is not in any way misleading, deceptive or inaccurate.

Any false or misleading information provided by you could lead to the withdrawal of employment.

GMHBA Limited will allow you to access personal information we hold about you as required by law. You can request to update or access your EOI application personal information by emailing People & Culture via peopleandcultureops@gmhba.com.au

5. Security of your information

Your personal information will be stored in electronic form. We will take reasonable steps to prevent misuse, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure of your personal information. Further information about security of your personal information can be found in the GMHBA Limited Privacy Policy.

6. Retention of information

We will retain personal information for as long as it is necessary to perform the function to which the information was collected.

After a period of twelve (12) months, your EOI application will no longer be considered for vacancies. You may submit an EOI application to a role you feel matches your skills and experience at any time by visiting the careers page of our website.

7. How to access our privacy policy and changes to the privacy statement
